Plan to Distinctively Clothe War Employes Brings Expressions From Those Who Would Be So Appareled.

sense official, has centered chiefly around the girl war worker and whether or not she should adopt a Here is one side of the question, as stated by several girl war workers:

Why Should Men Worry.

"Why must men worry about wom-en's apparel? The uniform of a man who has left office work long ago and joined 'Uncle Sam's fighting force,' as he should do, is seen everywhere. Why do men wish another uniform to do?

"Now, when the woman war workrs wish a uniform to show they are doing their bit, and, incidentally, to lessen the expense under which they are working here in Washington, some one comes forward and asks, 'Why the uniform?'

"Can't Wear a Bond."

"It was stated that the workers should buy liberty bonds. One cannot clothe herself by wearing a bond. The wearing of the uniform is not compulsory so that those who do not wish to wear it may do as they choose. It is a certain fact that those who will wear the uniforms will be the ones who have the liberty bonds." One government worker states the against the uniform as follows "The project is on foot to put all the girls of the War Department in uniforms. It seems to me, and to the majority of the girls with whom I have talked, that this is not, to say

favor of the measure is to eliminate the wearing in a business office of discarded party dresses and other un-suitable clothes. As the number of girls who wear inappropriate clothes is comparatively small, the advantage more than annulled by several disadvantages, two of which loom large These disadvantages are: First, the effect it will have in curtailing the buying of liberty bonds by the girls, who must buy the uniforms. I will who must buy the uniforms. I will money, which could much more change an old saying to fit the case profitably go into liberty bonds."

Division of opinion as to the propriety of adopting some uniform for war workers here seems to exist among employes of the War Department, where the question has been agitated. Shall there or shall there not be a uniform?

One faction says "yes" and the other "no." The project, which is in no sense official, has centered chiefly Bonds vs. Uniforms.

"Perhaps some one believes that to have the girls of the War Department in uniform will do as much to whip the Hun as for the money so spent to have been loaned to the government for the purchase of war material, but it looks to me very much like a mealooks to me very much like a man who buys a new car, and then spends so much for fur robes, the latest thing in lunch baskets, and a suit for his wife to match the color of the car, that he has no money left to buy gasoline.

in lunch baskets, and a suit for his wife to match the color of the car, that he has no money left to buy gasoline.

"The other principal disadvantage is in the waste of wool. I have read a great deal about the shortage in supply and that every bit must be conserved for the soldiers; if this is true where is the wool for our uniforms to come from? As one soldier, who overheard the girls discussing this phase of the subject, said: They will take it out of our uniforms to make yours. Even if there could be found enough wool for both, wouldn't is better for the girls to be encouraged to wear the suits and dresses and coats they already have? At least the men and machinery used in the manufacture of the proposed uniforms would be released for more important work.

Illegal Sales Increased.

Arrests for selling liquor without a license during the four-month "wet" period totaled twenty-three, while during the eight months under prohibition rule they numbered 600. During the fiscal year the assistant corporation counsel filed in court a total of 29,021 informations for alleged violations of the various acts of Congress applicable to the District and the police regulations and municipal ordinances.

The number of cases of intoxication filed during the year was 7,212; driving while intoxicated, 125; giving liquor to minors, 9; habitual drunkards, 15. It is pointed out in the report that the total number of cases filed showed an increase of 2,710 over the preceding year.

Hints at Compulsion.

"They do not say now that the uni forms will be compulsory, for a while at least, but the general inference is that they will be soon. Even if they are not, but are adopted and worn by some of the girls, there will be just enough of the flavor of a slacker about those who do not wear them to lead many others to buy them, even against their better judgment. Once the custom is started everything will work to fill the pockets of the designers and manufacturers, the only ones who will really profit by their adoption. "I hope this matter will reach the attention of the liberty loan committee and the committee on conservation of wool, as it is really worth their consideration. Now, before the uniforms are ordered, is the time to act and to stop this needless use of wool and this diversion of

"DRY" LAW CUTS DOWN ARRESTS IN DISTRICT

Report From Corporation Counsel's Office Shows Good Effect of Prohibition.

In a report of the work of the District branch of Police Court for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918, Assistant Corporation Counsel Ringgold Hart points out some of the changes brought about by enforcement of the "dry" law, the fiscal year covering four menths of the time that saloons were operating and eight months of the "dry" period.

During the four months when salons were doing business the arrests for drunkenness totaled 4.473, while during the eight months under the prohibition law the arrests were 2.742. No mention is made in the report of the fact that much of the drunkenness during the "dry" period resulted from drinking liquor brought from Baltimore.

waited and waited and waited. At last Jerry appeared, but it was plain to see that he was in a hurry. He merely nodded to Reddy Fox and then dived. "Well, I never!" exclaimed Reddy, staring at the little circles on the surface of the water made as Jerry dived. Jerry seems to have something on his mind. I wonder what he is up to now? He might at least have stopped long enough to pass the time of day. I must find out what he is about."

So Reddy waited and waited and waited some more. He managed to hide his impatience, and when at last Jerry climbed out on the Big Rock for a rest Reddy was just the same pleasant fellow he had been the night before.

"Well, Jerry." he exclaimed. "I thought you had deserted me. I've been waiting ever so long. I thought perhaps you may have thought of some way of building that house without mud." out mud."
"I'm sorry, but there isn't any other way," replied Jerry. "If there was I wouldn't be able to help you any. I've got too much to do to mind anybody's business but my own. If you want house you'll have to get some one house you'll have to get some one else to help build it or else build it all yourself."

"But what, may I ask, are you so suddenly busy about?" asked Reddy, and tried hard to keep the eagerness and tried hard to keep the eagerness from his voice.

"I'm laying up food for the winter," replied Jerry briefly. "Until that is done I can't think of anything else."

With this he dived from the Big
